Partner with the acQure Nova Network

As a consultant in the mining and exploration community, you have far reaching influence on how geoscience information is managed. Your expertise is critical to your client's needs for continued and future success.

acQure's GIM Suite is the industry-leading Geoscience Information Management (GIM) solution. When it comes to servicing their geoscientific data, our customers rely on flexible options.

The Nova Network combines more service options for acQure's customers while offering the consulting community an opportunity for business growth in GIM.

acQure offers the preferred industry-leading GIM Solution.

Nuts and bolts: The Nova Network

The Network is a collaboration between acQuire and independent consultants to provide high-quality GIM services and solutions based on acQuire technology products.

Nova Network Partners perform:

- Pre-implementation services
- Post-implementation services
- Data management services

You can offer these services to acQuire's customers or your own clients, depending on your level of accreditation.

You can access GIM Suite Learning to receive accreditation and access acQuire's technical support.

Our combined expertise will deliver better results for the industry's growing demand for GIM.

Who can become a Nova Network Partner?

Joining the Network is based on a range of criteria such as your experience level with the GIM Suite, your location, service offering and capacity to service clients.

Your Nova Network Partnership is scalable, and will grow with you, based on the number of accredited technologists operating in your business.

Current Nova Network members range in size from single operators to large consulting houses.

Consulting companies and independent consultants:

- have strong networks in the natural resources industry
- are passionate about developing their business further
- are active within the natural resources community
- have a good reputation for delivering quality data management services

To find out more, please contact novanetwork@acquire.com.au

You can offer services as GIM Keeper or GIM Provider:

GIM Keeper

- Provide Pre and Post-Implementation Services.
- Prepare data for a GIM Suite implementation.
- After a GIM Suite implementation, sites may require further servicing. As an accredited Nova Network Partner you can offer post-implementation services for acQuire customers.

GIM Suite Provider

- If your client does not have an existing GIM Solution, you can provide GIM services using the GIM Suite in an online managed environment administered by acQuire.

Accreditation

If your consultancy joins the Nova Network, it helps to promote your capabilities in the GIM world.

Accreditation of individual technologists in your consultancy comes via GIM Suite Learning.
